Dairy goats are the ideal family dairy animal! They are small, alert, intelligent, and easily handled. ## Letter from the President of Fresh Forage

Hello FDGA Members,

First off I want to give a big "Thank You" to our outgoing officers, thanking them for all the years they have contributed to the FDGA and all their hard work they put in over the years. So, thank you both JoAnn Jackson and Kathy Autry.

I want to thank all the members who voted me in as your President. This a new position for me but I will work hard in every area so we can see FDGA become focused on teaching and helping all members in areas they are in need of as well as putting on the Goats in Gatorland/Rutfest.

We want to welcome our newest Officer Beth Kennelley, she will be stepping in and taking the role of two positions secretary and treasurer. So let's give her a big hello.

Your officers are as follows:

President Judy Rummel

Vice President: Mary Ann Skanley

Secretary/Treasurer: Beth Kennelley

Directors: Vicky Chisolm, Tammy Hughes, Nicole Holland, Sami Ray Downs

We have had a great start to the beginning of our 2018-2019 fiscal year. Our Annual Conference was held again this year in Kissimmee at the KVLIS Pavilion. We had a good turn and lots of great teachers. Nick Cindric taught AI classes and Deedra Earl taught all about what is needed to get started on DH1. This great start also included a lot of new ideas, which are in the beginning process due to a really good first Board of Directors meeting held June 21, 2018. We had our first face-to-face meeting, which went very well.

So stay turn to the FDGA calendar. We are in hopes that we will be able to hold 4 workshops/general meetings during this fiscal year 2018-2019. So please if anyone is wanting to host please contact me. We want to try and distribute the meetings/workshops throughout the state so every member has an opportunity to attend at least one if not more.

If you haven't renewed your membership for 2018-2019 it is time, Your 2017-1018 expired July 30th. Remember you will need to send in a membership form to Beth Kennelley to make your membership valid. We have had a few members pay on Paypal but have not receive memberships forms. Also please if paying by Paypal, please use your name on note area of Paypal. We do not know your farm names and need you to provide that information.

So with this said I am looking forwarded to any ideas and anyone willing to host a workshop please let me know. Feel free to contact me anytime with questions or concerns.

Will talk to soon,
Judy Rummel

FDGA President 2018-2019

40th Annual Dairy Goat Production Conference

Thank you to our Speaker Guests:

AI Class By Nick Cindric

Thank you to our own Nick Cindric who was our main speaker and teacher for the day. He had the most fantastic idea of actually inseminating goats at our conference to give our attendees the best visual demonstration possible. This was a great hit and we are now anxiously waiting to hear the results. As soon as we hear, we will let you know how many of the goats are now pregnant as a result of our Conference demonstrations. He also shared dairy goat conformation information with us. So much knowledge was shared through this excellent class. We were limited by time but could have gone on for days with all the information he brought to share with us. Thank you so much to him for sharing his time, experience and letting us see first hand how things are done.

DHI Class and Test by Dedra Earl

Dedra Earl's DHI Class and test were a huge success as well. We can't thank you enough Dedra for the time and effort you put into helping us with that. So many participated and enjoyed all that you shared with them.

Lastly, thank you to all of the attendees to the 40th Conference. We served 75 lunches! Thank you to everyone who brought a raffle item, purchased a t-shirt, and participated in the day with us. Everyone enjoyed the whole day. We already started brainstorming ideas for next year. Let us know if you have one you would like to share.

The Week of a Life Time

By Mattie Weber

4-H Kidz Corner

Nationals the week of many words and yet no words at all. Let me tell you about my week and it starts off with the first day. Saturday, a rush getting through vet check, getting the goats settled in, checking in (goats & youth events), Judging and Management, and finely getting to hang out with my friends. But the thing is even with all the running about there is still time to have fun. Now let's move on to day two. Sunday, showmanship doe is ready, and I have everything that I am bring for the fitting contest ready to rock and roll. Now just waiting for Jr. and Int2. Showmanship to get done in order to go in and can you can feel the nerves are high. But what keeps the nerves at bay is the easy-going attitudes of the judges. If it was not for the judges, we might not be level headed an off to do what it is we need to do. When I finally went in for showmanship I told myself that it was not about winning it was about having fun and doing my best. As showmanship proceeds my nerves are at all time high after making the cut in to the top twenty. Know this is where it gets harder because nobody knows where this is going to go. When they finale placed us, and I was up front I was excited. I was not prepared to get first, but I was happy none the less. Now let's proceed with the fitting contest. The fitting contest was one of the things that me and my team was looking forward to besides hanging out with each other. We had a plan on who brought what and who was starting where when it started. When we got our doe for the fitting contest it together what we need to do and how fast we need to do it. Through out the contest we contently switched places and keep the air between us lit and easy. When we were waiting for the placings

was heart wrenching with not knowing what the four judges are looking for. When they started the placings and they were placing more and more in the next ring we nobody was placed in our ring. But when they announced that we were first place we were blown away with it all. We were all excited about winning but I am pretty shore the others were more excited about finely winning chars. When Jr. Nigerian finally came around I was tired, but I was not giving up. I had intel Sr. Yearlings to relax and watch and see what the judges are looking for in the Jr

4-H Kidz Corner Continued:

Finally, time has come at 12:30 in the morning as we take our Jr. in the ring we are working it all the will dealing with does who do not want to corporate. After what seems like 45 minutes they cut the class to the top 20 but it does not stop there. After severely more minutes they started placing them with my doe in first I was so excited I was beyond words. When the finale lines up were brought in they keep looking at my doe as well as two others does I was nerves. When the judge started talking about each doe and what she was saying about my doe I had a feeling that I was at least getting reserve. When she said my doe was Grand Champion was head over heels with excitement. Know it might seem that my words are all over the place, but when you so many things back to back it all starts to blur together.

Nigerian Dwarf Goat Club of Florida Youth Essay Contest

The Nigerian Dwarf Goat Club of Florida (NDGCF) held a Youth Essay Contest this spring. Tanya Cook was the chair person. The rules were - the essays must have been written by a youth. ### Favorites from this Book:

VANILLA FUDGE

3 C	sugar	½ C	butter or margarine
½ C	light corn syrup	1 tsp	vanilla extract
1½ C	goat milk	½ C	chopped nuts optional

Combine sugar, corn syrup, and milk in a large saucepan. Cook over medium high heat until mixture comes to a boil. Reduce heat and boil gently until it reaches the soft ball stage. Stir often to keep it from sticking. When ready remove from heat. Add vanilla, butter, and nuts if desired. Beat by hand until thick. Pour into buttered 8 x 8 inch pan. Cool and cut.

HELPFUL HINTS

- To tell if your fudge has reached the soft ball stage without a candy thermometer, place a small amount into a glass of cold water.
- When it forms a soft ball that is pliable and can be held between your fingers, the mixture is ready to remove from heat and beat. When testing the fudge, be sure to use a fresh glass of cold water each time you test. The water must be cold!
- Cook your fudge slowly and gently. Cooking too fast will cause it to stick and possibly burn.
- Use a large heavy pan, about 3 times bigger than the amount of fudge, it needs a lot of room to cook, otherwise it will boil over.
- If fudge is too soft, it has not cooked long enough. Too hard, it has been over cooked. A bad batch can be reclaimed.
- Break up the fudge into a clean pan. Gradually add 1-2 cups goat milk. Cook slowly, stirring gently to dissolve the fudge pieces into the milk. Use only enough milk to dissolve the fudge, too much milk will take longer to cook down. Gently cook, stirring often until reclaimed fudge reaches the soft ball stage. Pour into a buttered 8 x 8 inch pan. Cool and cut.
- Hand beating the fudge to the right consistency is important. When testing the fudge in the cold water, it will seem thin even though it tests right. Don't worry! This is normal.
- The fudge will thicken up as you are beating it. The longer the fudge is beaten, the smoother the texture and creamier the taste.
